

Dennis Simon

Dr. Dennis Simon (Ph.D., Michigan State University)

Altshuler Distinguished Teaching Professor
Political Science
Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences

Dr. Simon is an Associate Professor in the Department of Political Science and a founding member of the John Goodwin Tower Center for Political Studies at Southern Methodist University and is an Altshuler Distinguished Teaching Professor of Political Science in the Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences. He is the recipient of SMU's "M" Award, the Willis Tate Award, and President's Associate award.

Professor Simon is a founding member of the John Goodwin Tower Center for Political Studies at Southern Methodist University, a non-partisan center that sponsors a variety of conferences and public programs as well as research by faculty and undergraduate students. At present, he serves the Tower Center as a member of its Faculty Advisory Committee and as Director of its American Politics and Economics Program.

Since the spring of 2008, he has taught a course on the Politics and Legacies of the Civil Rights Movement and served as the faculty leader of SMU's Civil Rights Pilgrimage.

His teaching and research interests include the American Presidency, presidential-congressional relations, public opinion, electoral behavior, and research methodology.

His research has appeared in such leading journals as the American Political Science Review, American Journal of Political Science, and the Journal of Politics. He is the recipient of the Southern Political Science Association V.P. Key award for his study of national forces in state legislative elections.

He is the co-author of Women and Congressional Elections: A Century of Change (with Barbara Palmer)